RESOURCES & TOOLS

Investing in Mortgages

Mortgages make up a big part of a Canadian bank's business model. This is a good indication that investing in mortgages is not only lucrative but also secure compared to many other alternative investment options. It's our mission to open up the mortgage investment market to the public and add mortgages to your investment portfolio as an alternative to stock market-based assets, such as mutual funds.

The IQInvest MIC provides a way for individuals and corporate investors to access Canadian real estate markets and take advantage of economies of scale not available to them as individuals. Investors pool their money by buying shares in a company called a Mortgage Investment Corporation (MIC). The MIC invests these funds in mortgages that generate a yield through interest rates and fees charged to the borrowers. This yield produces quarterly cash flow for its investors.

The MIC's management is responsible for all facets of the MIC's operations: sourcing of mortgage opportunities, analysis and underwriting of mortgages, and structuring and facilitating the related legal transactions. The MIC then manages and administers the entire mortgage portfolio comprised of these individual mortgage investments. Extensive oversight from different regulatory bodies ensures transparency and security. The Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) regulates the mortgage brokering and lending activities of MICs under the Mortgage Brokers, Lenders and Administrators Act, 2006. We file our Offering Memorandum and audited financial statements annually with the Ontario Securities Commission.

A Guide to the Mortgage Investment Corporation (MIC)

It is important for investors in a Mortgage Investment Corporation (MIC) to know as much as possible about the background, intent, structure, regulations and tax-exempt flow-through aspects of the MIC.

Let's define what a MIC is.

A MIC is an investment that lets people pool their money to be invested in mortgages. All of the MIC's net profit from the mortgages flows through to the MIC investors.

MICs have been around since 1973 when federal legislation was enacted to promote private financing and make it easier to invest in mortgages.

MICs are one of the lesser known asset classes despite yielding solid long-term returns and despite being RRSP, TFSA, RRIF and RESP eligible in most cases.

A Mortgage Investment Corporation as defined under Section 130.1 of the Income Tax Act pay no corporate income tax and act as a flow-through entity, provided 100% of its taxable income gets paid out as dividends.

IQInvest Mortgage Investment Corporation is managed and administered by CWF Group Mortgages Inc. (FSRA Administrator License No. 12944 and Brokerage License No. 12786)

RESOURCES & TOOLS

Advantages of Investing in a MIC

Investing in a MIC spreads the investment among a diversified group of mortgages, mitigating concentration risk that can arise from holding a single mortgage or small number of mortgages.

MIC Manager actively manages the investments and mortgages, providing an investor with a hands-off investment experience.

The MIC is subject to the Canadian Income Tax Act along with the Ontario Securities Commissions oversight.

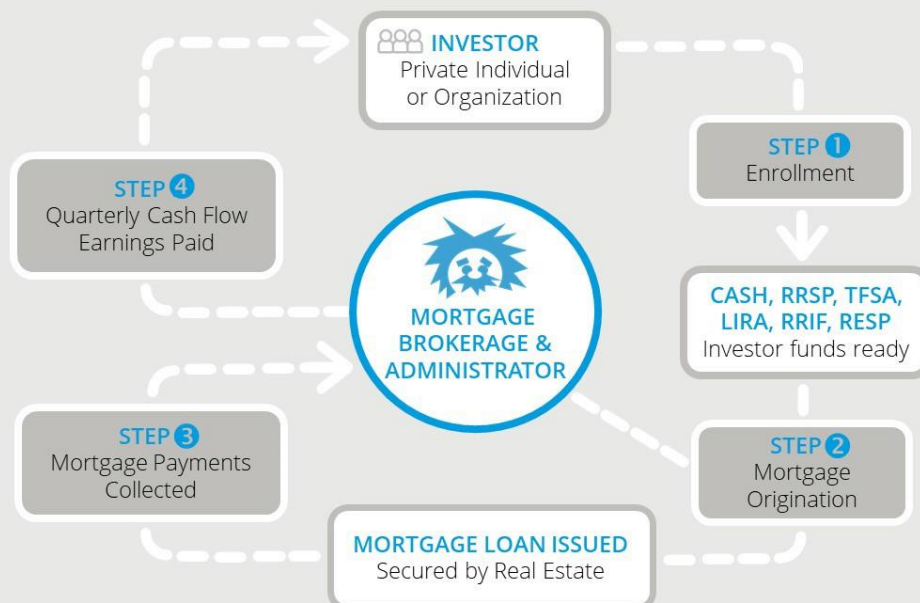

A MIC invests in mortgages secured by real estate whereas a real estate investment trust (REIT) invests in the property itself. A MIC draws its income from mortgage payments by the property owners, whereas a REIT draws its income through rents collected from tenants.

Mortgage payments provide for predictable, steady, monthly income while providing safety and security to the investor. A MIC's financial statements must be audited each year, the applicable audit standards are the International Financial Reporting Standards, or IFRS, which is the same standard that applies to publicly traded companies.

MICS can also be a more secure and safe option compared to investing directly in real estate.

When you invest in a MIC, you are investing in mortgages, which are less vulnerable to fluctuating property values.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. What is the size of the MIC market?

A. The Canadian residential mortgage market surpassed 1.6 trillion dollars in 2016. It has been growing at an annual growth rate of 7% compounded every year for the last 10 years. The Banks and Trust Companies focus on 80% of the market. Due to tighter restrictions due to the recent OSFI B-20 Guideline, the Banks and Trust Companies have restricted their lending practices. This has created a larger opportunity for MICs.

Q. How is the MIC market regulated?

A. In the province of Ontario, the Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) licenses and regulates all mortgage brokers, agents, and administrators. MICs are subject to the Income Tax Act and OSC oversight.

Q. What risks are associated with investing in a MIC?

A. All property investments are subject to elements of risk. Property value is affected by general economic conditions, local real estate markets, the attractiveness of the property to tenants, competition from other available properties, and other factors. While independent appraisals are required before MICs may make any mortgage investment, the appraised values provided therein, even where reported on an "as in" basis, are not necessarily always reflective of the market value of the underlying property, which may fluctuate.

The MIC's income and funds available for distribution to security holders would be adversely affected if a significant number of borrowers were unable to pay their obligations. Upon default by a borrower, MICs may experience delays in enforcing its' rights as a lender and could incur costs in protecting its investment.

Additional risk considerations include:

- Lender inexperience through credit cycles
- Lender does not have any workout experience
- The province in which the MIC invests is an important consideration with respect to the real estate market and the ability to enforce lender rights
- Size and Term of the mortgage
- Loan-to-value ratio
- Proportion of the MICs assets in first vs. second vs. third mortgages
- Proportion on the MICs assets in residential vs. commercial vs. land

For further information on risks associated with investing in a MIC please refer to the Offering Memorandum.

Q. Who borrows from IQI MIC?

A. While banks are readily available sources of loans, recent legislation has required banks to adjust and restrict their mortgage lending policies. Borrowers who previously qualified for bank loans may now be rejected. This is where IQI MIC can step in and fill the gap. IQI is more efficient than a conventional bank, credit union, or trust company and can provide financing on a timelier basis. Additionally, IQI has greater flexibility in managing its relationships with borrowers and can tailor solutions to each borrower's situation. Investors, through the MIC, can assist these individuals, while earning a healthy and stable return.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. What kind of mortgages does IQI invest in?

A. Our mortgages are secured by Canadian real estate located in Canada, primarily in Ontario. We lend based on the value of property and credit-worthiness of our borrowers.

Q. Why does IQI focus on financing mortgages in Ontario?

A. IQI is pro-active in working with borrowers and has a structured process in place in the event legal action is required. In situations where the borrower is unable to service the loan, IQI will send a demand letter if the mortgage is more than 16 days arrears. The power of sale can commence in Ontario after 37 days compared with much longer periods (6+ months) in other provinces.

Q. How does IQI MIC originate mortgages?

A. IQI originates deals through licensed mortgage brokers and licensed agents in Ontario. The Manager is retained to manage the mortgage portfolio. IQI MIC does not broker mortgages for a fee or pay origination fees.

Q. Is financing real estate as secure as owning it?

A. While the real estate values may change, investors do not have the same concerns as owners about possible value losses. If the financing opportunities are well selected, the return is fixed over the life of the financing.

Q. Is leverage utilized?

A. IQI MIC has the option to incur indebtedness secured by the Corporation's assets to purchase or make mortgage investments. Historically, IQI has used leverage as a cash management tool to even out investor inflows with outflows. See the Offering memorandum for further detail.

Q. How am I taxed?

A. Your returns are taxed as interest, not dividends.

Q. Can I invest through my RRSP or TFSA as well as cash?

A. Yes, IQInvest MIC is an investment for all Canadian registered plans, examples being the RRSP and Spousal RRSP, RRIF, TFSA, LIF, LRIF, and LIRA. Many IQI investors invest both cash and registered funds.

Q. Can I transfer my registered plan to IQI?

A. Yes, you can. We handle the transfer for you.

Q. How long is my money committed?

A. Your funds are committed for 1 year when investing in our Class A Shares and 3-years when investing in our Class B Shares. You choose. Our Class B Shares offers an Early Redemption clause to redeem the investment earlier than its due date (subject to an early redemption penalty).

Q. What are the start-up fees associated with opening an account?

A. At IQInvest there are no start-up fees associated with opening a cash account. For registered accounts please refer to the Trustee's fee schedule.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q. How is my investment secured?

A. IQI Investors are value investors. They are long-term thinkers who have faith in the enduring value of Canadian real estate property. They are not interested in the quick buck, volatility, and its associated risks. They like regular income and growth through compound interest. IQI's investment is secured by valuable Canadian real estate and personal guarantees of mortgage borrowers.

Q. What is the typical investment amount?

A. There is no 'typical' investment amount. You may invest as little as $25,000 and you may make monthly contributions to your investment account.

Q. How are dividends received?

A. Investors can choose to take advantage of the automatic dividend reinvestment plan (DRIP) and gain the benefit of compounding their return. Alternatively, investors can receive their quarterly dividends by cash.

Q. How do I benefit from compound interest?

A. By reinvesting dividends compound interest increases your investment exponentially without any work. Unlike most banks that compound your interest once a year, IQI compounds your interest four times a year.

Q. How do I subscribe?

A. An investor wishing to subscribe for Offered Shares must ensure that a duly completed and executed subscription agreement (a "Subscription Agreement") in the form provided by, or on behalf of, the Corporation is received by the Corporation (or its agent) by 4:00 p.m. (EST) within two (2) business days before the applicable Subscription Date for the subscription to be processed as of such Subscription Date.

- Please speak to your financial advisor regarding your interest in investing in the IQI MIC.
- Your advisor will have you fill out our Subscription Document and help you determine suitability.
- Upon completion of the Subscription Document, your advisor will post the trade.
- Dealers/Advisors are required for all initial purchases to deliver a copy of the completed Subscription Agreement to IQI MIC via Email to info@iqinvest.ca.
- Please contact our office or refer to our Offering Memorandum for a detailed subscription process.

Q. How do I retract my shares?

A. Subscriber wishing to retract all or any portion of his, her or its Shares on a Retraction Date must submit written notice of such intention to the Corporation a minimum of six (6) months before the Retraction Date (which period may be varied or waived by the directors of the Corporation in their sole discretion).

Q. Is there a lock-up period?

A. Yes, 12 months.
